DiSclOSuRE POlicY
In order to meet the requirements of the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education it is the policy of Baylor College of Medicine that all individuals who are in a position to control the content of a CME activity (activity director, planning committee members, and faculty) disclose relevant financial relationships with commercial interests.

All identified conflicts of interest are managed to help ensure that the educational material is scientifically based, accurate, and objectively presented. Specific disclosure will be made to the participants prior to the educational activity.
CONFERENCE OVERVIEW
Skill preparation and planning for health care transition for children and youth with special health care needs (CYSHCN) is inadequate. Less than 50% of families nationwide indicate that their CYSHCH have received the services necessary to make appropriate transitions to adult health care, work, and independence. One of the major problems to receiving this care is the lack of a physician workforce trained in providing the services necessary to make the health care transition. There is a strong need on the part of physicians to have the knowledge and skills to provide services to facilitate successful transition from pediatric to adult-based care and services.

Due to increased awareness in transitioning to adult-based care, clinicians are required to be updated on changing strategies for integrating emerging adult-based care into practice.

For all conference participants, there will be an update of the legal issues involved in health care transition, as well as time to meet and talk with faculty, to exchange ideas among participants, and share knowledge and information about how best to plan for a successful transition to adulthood.

TARGET AUDIENCE
Physicians in internal medicine, family practice, pediatrics psychiatry, and physiatry; other health care providers including, psychologists, social workers, nurses, dietitians, case managers, counselors, and primary care providers; youth and young adults with chronic illness and their parents/guardians.

OBJECTIVES
At the conclusion of the conference, participants should be able to:
• Identify the current state of health care transition in the U. S., including legal and financial issues.
• Develop a practice-based framework for implementing health care transition services.
• Evaluate youth and young adults with special health care needs presenting with complex medical conditions and identify appropriate transition services.
• Identify barriers and successful strategies when placing youth and young adults with special health care needs with behavioral health and intellectual disabilities into employment, housing, and available medical transition services.
• Identify the core elements and measures of a quality improvement assessment.

EDUCATIONAL METHODS
Lecture ■ Meet the Faculty Sessions ■ Breakout Sessions
Question and Answer Sessions

EVALUATION
Evaluation by questionnaire will address program content, presentation, and possible bias.
