Conference Overview
There is a great need for education in the diagnosis and management of vulvo-vaginal diseases. • Diagnose and treat both common and unusual vaginal infections
• Diagnose and treat sexually transmitted diseases
• Diagnose and treat the various skin and mucosal disorders involving the vulva
• Diagnose and manage malignant diseases of the vulva and vagina
• Identify techniques for diagnosing diseases of the vulva and vagina
• Identify treatment modalities for management of vulvar diseases

Educational Methods
Pretest/posttest, lectures, audio/video presentations, ethics discussion, question and answer sessions, panel discussion, syllabus

Target Audience
Obstetricians, gynecologists, dermatologists, family physicians, internists, general practitioners, pathologists, nurses, midwives and other healthcare professionals desiring to increase their knowledge in the diseases of the vulva and vagina.

Evaluation by questionnaire will address program content, presentation, and possible bias.
